Bacon is actually cheaper c un is cheaper there than in Chicag . Will not Memphis stretch out her arms and help to build the Memphis and Knoxville railroad, and thus secure this valuable trade? We already lose seven-tenths of the cotton crop of Harde man, nine-tenths of that of McNairy, Cattle Fever-Quantrell Not Dead all of that of Henderson, Hardin, Wayne and Perry. Our city government seems indifferent, if not powerless to help us. Our county court is squeam ish, divided, paralyzed. With very little aid from private capitalists here to the Memphis and Knoxville railroad our city will secure the trade and surplus produce of all these counties. Without some assistance from our citizens this road, completed, as it soon will be from Henderson Station to Bolivar, will only divert the trade we already have from Hardeman and McNairy. General Neely, the president, and his persevering directors, nothing daunted by the apathy of Memphis, are rapidly pushing forward the work east of Bollvar. Shall Memphis reap the benefits of this road and bear none of the burdens of building it? If other Memphis railroads may continue, perhaps forever, to be operated in the interest of other cities, let us foster their proposed rival, which will be owned, run and operated by our own people and
